

Indus: Police Integrated Tactical Vest with Body Armour

CQC's Indus Tactical Vest is integrated with soft armour and offers a high degree of personal protection for users.

Indus has been designed in conjunction with UK Police for high threat environments with integrated soft armour filler for all round protection.

With its modern design, Indus offers the wearer a comfortable and functional fit through the use of lightweight fabrics. The non-slip shoulder padding and rifle stop, as used in CQC's award winning military body armour systems, has been designed to provide a more stable base when using a weapon.

MOLLE attachments have been included to allow for the individual to attach relevant pouches in the most comfortable positions. We are able to supply a variety of pouches for use with our range of Police Vests. The vest can be supplied with protection to suit the user, whether ballistic, anti-stab, or both.

Indus is available in both male and female styles and in a number of different sizes.
